Events. Find out more about our four Annual Beer Festivals and our Winter Conference. Foggy Pine Books, Boone. When Mary Ruthless, an English literature graduate of Appalachian State University, had the opportunity to buy Black Bear Books in Boone from a former colleague in 2016, she couldn't pass it up. Great Notion's second location offers plenty of growing room for the three-year-old company, along with to-go coffee six days a week, an expanded menu, and most importantly, more beer. In the late spring of 1933, during the Great Depression, almost a dozen leading North Carolina businessmen agreed to advertise in a weekly news magazine they had never seen, to be published by someone they barely knew. The magazine was The State, and the publisher was Carl Goerch, an eastern North ..., The Great Beer State Magazine.
